

Better Not Get Dyspepsia

If you can help it. Kodol prevents Dyspepsia, by effectually helping Nature to Relieve Indigestion. But don't trifle with Indigestion.

A great many people who have trifled with indigestion, have been sorry for it—when nervous or chronic dyspepsia resulted, and they have not been able to cure it. Use Kodol and prevent having Dyspepsia.

Everyone is subject to indigestion. Stomach derangement follows stomach abuse, just as naturally and just as surely as a sound and healthy stomach results upon the taking of Kodol.

When you experience sourness of stomach, belching of gas and nauseating fluid, bloated sensation, gnawing pain in the pit of the stomach, heart burn (so-called), diarrhoea, headaches, dizziness or chronic tired feeling—you need Kodol. And then the quicker you take Kodol—the better. Eat what you want, let Kodol digest it.

Ordinary pepsin "dyspepsia tablets," physics, etc., are not likely to be of much benefit to you, in digestive ailments. Pepsin is only a partial digester—and physics are not digesters at all.

Kodol is a perfect digester. If you could see Kodol digesting every particle of food, of all kinds, in the glass test-tubes in our laboratories, you would know this just as well as we do.

Nature and Kodol will always cure a sick stomach—but in order to be cured, the stomach must rest. That is what Kodol does—rests the stomach, while the stomach gets well. Just as simple as A, B, C.

A Song.

Above the edge of dark appear the lances of the sun;
Along the mountain-ridges clear his rosy heralds run;

The vapors down the valley go
Like broken armies, dark and low,
Look up, my heart, from every hill
In folds of rose and daffodil.

O fly away on silent wing, ye boding owls of night!

O welcome little birds that sing the coming-in of light!

For new, and new, and ever-new,
The golden bud within the blue;

And every morning seems to say:
"There's something happy on the way."

"And God sends love to you!"

Henry Van Dyke.

A Good One.

The usual party of evening town gossip had gathered in front of the postoffice, when Rastus, a good-hearted old darkey, said:

"Folkses, I know a man who tells lies so often that he sometimes actually believes he's tellin' the truf. You've heard of them people, haven't you? Listen! One day he was passin' by a restrunt, and as he was very hungry he went in to get somethin' to eat. But when he got inside he saw that every seat was occupied. Then he thought a minute and suddenly said just so loud that every one could hear him:

"Have you heard?"

"Of course every one said:

"What?"

"Why," said he, 'there's a whale down in the dock that they just captured lashin' his tail around and upsettin' the tugboats and steamers. He's only goin' to be there ten minutes.'

"Of course every one jumped up and ran down to see the whale. That was just what he wanted. So, sittin' down, he ordered his dinner and begun to eat. Suddenly he looked out the window, and there was everybody runnin' to the docks—policemen, Chinamen, coons and all—and he said:

"By golly! I guess it's so!"

"And he ran down there himself."

—Judge.

The Comic Supplement.

In a four column editorial in its issue of March 6th, the Outlook pays its respects to the so-called "funny" paper. We reproduce its closing paragraphs and send them on, saying of them what the little boy said of the prayer tacked up at the head of his bed, "Them's my sentiments."

"There is no class in the community whose moral and intellectual life ought to be more carefully guarded than the children; and it is in the hands of the children that we are placing these comic supplements. This is the material with which, in the most susceptible years, we are making their eyes familiar; this is the interpretation of life which, in their most sensitive period, we are constantly putting before them. To call the whole supplement business a vulgar mess is to characterize it with exactness. The root evil of America from the beginning has been lawlessness. There is nothing that American children need so much for their future happiness and for the safety of the country as education in respect for law and authority. Now, the chief function of the comic supplement, as evidenced by its pictures and its text, is to destroy all respect for law and authority. Its standard joke is the joke about the old man who either deceives the child or is deceived by him; it is the joke about the parent who is being hoodwinked, or the joke about the wife who is playing some sort of game on her husband. When children are introduced as figures they are of the kind that one would expect to find on the stage of the most vulgar vaudeville. They are shapeless, wane caricatures; and their mischief is crude, cheap, and obvious. There is none of the fun, the touch of invention, the real humor, which belongs to the mischief of the wholesome boys and girls.

"The Outlook regards this outrage on children as one of the greatest perils in the life of the country to-day. We are permitting the vulgarization of our children on a great scale. We are allowing their eyes to become accustomed to the cheapest and crudest use of color and form, and we are saturating their minds with vulgar images. We are teaching them lawlessness; we are cultivating the lack of reverence in them; we are doing everything we can, by cheapening life, to destroy the American homes of the future. At a time when the interests of children are attracting more and more attention, when State and National measures are being taken to protect them from overwork, it is high time that organized effort should be made to protect them from contamination from base ideals of life, from mean conceptions of home and parents. Here is work in which every woman's club in the country ought to take a hand; for women, even more than men, are the guardians of the purity of children. In their hand rests the great trust of keeping the American home clean and wholesome. Certain things every man and woman can do at once: The door can be bolted against the intrusion of the comic supplements; no copy of these supplements ought to lie on the table in a decent American home. Every man and woman can register an individual protest in the office of the newspaper which sends this supplement to the house. Every man and woman can call attention to this National inundation of vulgarity. If the public conscience can be aroused, effective methods of dealing with this evil will be found on all sides."

Lived 152 Years.

Wm. Parr, England's oldest man, married the third time at 120, worked in the fields till 132 and lived 29 years longer. People should be youthful at 80. James Wright, of Spurlock, Ky., shows how to remain young. "I feel just like a 16-year-old boy," he writes, "after taking six bottles of Electric Bitters. For thirty years kidney trouble made life a burden, but the first bottle of this wonderful medicine convinced me I had found the greatest cure on earth." They're a godsend to weak, sickly, rundown or old people. Try them. 50c. at E. T. Whitehead Company's.

Cigarette Smoking.

A boy in St. Louis is in the hospital for treatment for a very strange disease. He is seventeen years old, and for several years his mind has been going to childishness, and is now in the condition of an average boy of seven years of age. In searching for the cause the physicians found that it was brought about by smoking cigarettes. Many a boy picks up such a habit because he thinks it removes the danger of being called a "sissy boy," but even that would be better than to degenerate into a baby boy, like this young man. If a boy thinks it is "manly" to smoke cigarettes, let this case show him that it is just the opposite. So with drinking and swearing and fighting. There is no manliness about them.—Boy Life.

Opposed to Slang.

Donald had been to Sunday school, and on coming home was asked what he had learned. The lesson was the story of Joseph, and the small learner was evidently very full of his subject.

"Oh," he said, "it was about a boy, and his brothers took him and put him in a hole in the ground; and then they killed another boy, and took the first boy's coat and dipped it in the blood of this boy and—"

"Oh, no, Donald, not another boy!" his sister interrupted, horrified. But Donald stood his ground.

"It was, too," he insisted. Then he added, "The teacher said 'kid,' but I don't use words like that."—Woman's Home Companion for May.

"I will not be swayed by envy when my rival's strength is shown;

"I will not deny his merit, but I'll strive to prove my own.

"I will try to see the beauty spread before me, rain or shine,

"I will cease to preach your duty and be more concerned with mine."

James Hamilton, 319 E. Fifth St., Greenville, N. C., says: "My kidneys were weak and the secretions passed so frequently, especially during the night, that I was forced to rise several times. In the morning when I arose my back was very lame, and at such times, I was subject to pains through my loins. Doan's Kidney Pills restored my kidneys to a normal condition. I am now able to sleep well and the lameness and soreness across the small of my back has entirely disappeared.
